FAQS

Frequently asked questions

Can I really get life insurance if I have a pre-existing condition?

Yes, you can. Many of our clients have conditions like diabetes, high blood pressure, heart disease, or obesity. We work with carriers that specialize in high-risk applicants and offer real coverage—even if you’ve been denied before.

Will my premiums be higher because of my condition?

Premiums can vary based on your health, age, and the type of policy, but we work hard to find the most affordable options available to you. Our goal is to match you with coverage that fits both your needs and your budget.

What if I've already been turned down for life insurance?

That's okay. Many of our clients come to us after being denied elsewhere. We partner with insurers who offer guaranteed issue or simplified issue policies—no medical exam required in some cases.

Do I need to take a medical exam to apply?

Not always. Some policies, especially guaranteed issue or simplified issue plans, don't require a medical exam. We'll guide you to the best option based on your health and preferences.

How do I get started?

Just fill out our quick quote form or contact us for a free consultation. We'll review your situation, explain your options, and walk you through the process—no pressure, no confusion.
